

Smart Meters? Are Hazardous to Your Health

Have you heard of Smart Meters? They are coming to your neighborhood and they are not smart, but they can be dangerous and are creating a looming public health disaster. Smart Meters are usually attached to building walls, and can be a few feet from where people sleep. Their signal range is around two miles for each meter. Sending out readings 24-7 365 Days a year. As a result, bills are skyrocketing, health and safety violations are being reported and privacy in our homes is being violated.

The new Smart Meters That are being installed across our country have many detrimental affects on your physical and emotional health that you should be aware of, the Smart Meters expose all of us to dangerous microwave like EMF/RF frequency on a continuous basis, that among other things can disrupt the brain, nervous system, endocrine system, immune system and hormones. Plants that grow beside Smart Meters die. If it kills a plant what is it doing to our bodies?

Many people across the country who don't even have any preexisting health conditions report that they are developing very serious and debilitating effects from the Smart Meters, like high blood pressure, severe headaches, migraines, exhaustion, high pitched ringing in the ears, impaired memory and confusion, insomnia, nausea and heart palpitations, anxiety, and a reduced level of functioning experienced prior to installation of the Smart Meters.

Do you value civil liberties and the right to privacy? When a Smart Meter is installed, your utility has access to a treasure trove of information about you, when you wake up in the morning, when you go on vacation, what kind of appliances you are using etc.

Do you value your health, and the health of your family and friends? Just as we are learning that cell phones cause brain tumors, why are we installing the same technology on everyone's home with no right to opt out? Smart Meters already violate high FCC limits on human exposure to microwave radiation and are being installed as "electro-sensitivity" skyrockets. Risk of developing serious symptoms, often referred to as "Electrical Sensitivity" increases the longer our chronic exposure to EMF's and RFR's continues.

Smart Meters are just another add on to the Electropollution Grid,
